The estimated number of trade-affected workers covered by certified petitions is 10% lower than the 5-year average.

Petition activity is unchanged compared to the 5-year average.

The number of new participants enrolled in the TAA Program is 23% lower than the 5-year average.

New participants are down 23% compared to the 5-year average.
TAA Navigators = New Participant Growth

The black bar in each of these charts shows the proportion of new participants from Virginia (Region 2) and Oregon (Region 6).

Both states are responsible for a disproportionally high number of new participants since implementing the TAA Navigator model.

VA represents 28% of the population of R2 but is now responsible for nearly 75% of all new participants.

OR represents 6% of the population of R6 but is responsible for nearly 50% of all new participants.
TAA Navigators = Increased Petition Filing

Petitions filed by Virginia and Oregon represent 10% of all petitions filed in FY 2018 even though these 2 states only represent 3.85% of the US population.

This has happened during a time of economic growth and lower unemployment and shows that even in a robust economy, there are trade-affected populations for whom petitions should be filed.

In VA the number of filed petitions is up 148% compared to the 5-year average.

In OR the number of filed petitions is up 8% compared to the 5-year average.

Welcome to Trade Adjustment Assistance for Workers
- Welcome to Trade Adjustment Assistance for Workers
- This site is intended to provide information about the Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) program and the resources available to workers affected by section 201 and 301 actions.
- TAA provides assistance to workers who have lost their jobs as a result of increased imports or other factors related to trade. The program offers training, reemployment services, and other support to help workers transition to new careers.
- If you are interested in learning more about the TAA program or to apply, please visit the Federal Trade Adjustment Assistance website.
